

THERE WILL BE CONSE QUEN SES

I stood there where mud has been introduced, I stood there for hours and no words were spoken. If people somehow understood me with no expression at all.

It's unclear to me how things can be like that when no one does anything good in this world. Not for me, how can it be. I waited there for hours.

The mud spot became bigger and dirt started to contaminate my Nike's. A child passed by and look at me with big brown eyes like they were asking me something.

Webbed on the phrase to get more facts straight, there will be blood.
